BENJAMIN FRANKLIN'S Poor Richard's Almanac appeared from 1732 to 1758. Among other information, it provided pithy sayings and proverbs, many of which have withstood the test of time. Let me know if you have a favorite and why!

"An empty bag cannot stand upright."

"Anger is never without a reason, but seldom a good one."

"Anoint a villain and he'll stab you: stab him and he'll anoint you."

"An old young man will be a young old man."

"Don't think to hunt two hares with one dog."

"Eat few suppers and you'll need few medicines."

"Great alms giving, lessens no man's living."

“Happy’s the wooing that’s not long a doing.”

“He that lies down with dogs, shall rise up with fleas.”

“If your riches are yours, why don’t you take them with you to the other world.”

“Lost time is never found again.”

“The noblest question in the world is, what good may I do in it?”

“They who have nothing to trouble them, will be troubled at nothing.”

“The sleeping fox catches no poultry.”

“The tongue is ever turning to the aching tooth.”

“When you’re good to others, you are best to yourself.”

“Who is rich? He that rejoices in his portion.”
